There are homes that don't need to be imposing to leave a lasting impression. This exclusive renovated property in Dénia belongs to that category: spaces that, through calm and precision, create a truly exceptional experience.

Originally conceived as a modest 1980s beach house, the renovation has resulted in a flawless transformation where past and present engage in a natural dialogue. The result is a serene and sophisticated architecture, in which every decision reflects a meticulous pursuit of balance, proportion, and material excellence.

The project revolves around a refined Mediterranean style, reinterpreted through a contemporary
