Excellent investment opportunity in the heart of Fuengirola. A plot of approximately 120 m² with an existing house, the structure of which is of little interest for preservation, offering the possibility of developing a new residential project.

Due to its characteristics and location, the property is particularly attractive to developers and investors looking to build a small residential building in the center of Fuengirola, one of the most sought-after areas on the Costa del Sol.

According to available urban planning information and subject to the corresponding municipal verification and certification, the plot would be classified under the VP-1 (Popular Housing) zoning
