A Grand Andalusian Townhouse Awaiting Its Next Chapter - Alameda, Málaga

Set in the heart of Alameda, this substantial traditional townhouse offers an extraordinary 675 m² of constructed space on a 384 m² urban plot. Dating from 1921, it is a property of genuine scale and character, ready to be restored and loved again.

Behind its imposing façade are beautiful reminders of its Andalusian past: decorative entrance tiles, traditional timber doors, period flooring, high ceilings, fireplaces, wrought-iron balconies and distinctive circular windows.

And above all, there is space - a great deal of it.
