Unique Historic Mill with River, Lush Gardens & 15,000 m² of Land - Canillas de Albaida
Some properties are built to be homes. Others have a history that began long before they became living spaces. This exceptional old mill in Canillas de Albaida is one of them: a rare and characterful property where history, nature and an extraordinary setting come together.
One of the few historic mills still preserved in this part of the Axarquía, the building has been restored while retaining much of its original character. Today, it offers 462 m² of built area set within almost 15,000 m² of land, surrounded by lush vegetation and with the river running alongside...(Ask for More Details!)
