This townhouse is located in Canillas de Albaida, within a short distance of the village centre, in a convenient area with everyday services close at hand.

Access to the property is via a few steps leading up to the main entrance. Inside, the first floor comprises a living room, kitchen and two bedrooms.

On the upper floor, there is a larger master bedroom, together with the bathroom and a covered terrace, providing useful additional space.

In addition, before reaching the main entrance, the property has an independent room at street level, currently used as a small wine cellar/storage room, which could be very practical as a
