Great terraced village house distributed over three levels, located in one of the municipalities of the Axarquía region, Almáchar, and within short walking distance of local shops, cafes, and essential services. The property is in a good state of conservation and ready to move into, offering excellent potential for value appreciation through a renovation update to modernize its rooms and optimize its spaces.

The entrance floor from the street is distributed into a living room, a full bathroom, and a generously sized independent kitchen. This kitchen is delivered fully equipped with a ceramic hob, oven, and dishwasher, offering plenty of space for cooking. The main sleeping area is situated on the...(Ask for
