Located on the edge of the village of Mondrón, this corner house enjoys beautiful views over the mountains and countryside stretching towards the sea. The property features a front terrace and a well-laid-out interior, including a fully equipped kitchen-dining room, a comfortable living room with fireplace, and multiple air-conditioned spaces. Upstairs, there are three double bedrooms, including a master with private balcony offering panoramic views, along with two bathrooms. A basement level provides additional versatility with a workroom, storage space, utility area, and garage access. Set in a peaceful and authentic Andalusian village, Mondrón offers a welcoming community, local shops, restaurants, and an olive oil mill, all surrounded by nature.
