Spacious country house, restored and modernised while preserving its authentic character. At the foot of the Sierra del Carche, surrounded by vineyards, almond and olive groves, stands this exceptional and spacious country house. Once a winery with stables, it has been lovingly restored by the family of the current owners using natural materials. Original antique floors, doors and architectural details have been preserved. Old terracotta tiles were reused, and nearly 150 wooden beams were restored, treated and nourished with natural oils.

The entire renovation was guided by one principle: to preserve the soul of the house while making it comfortable and practical for modern living. The layout was designed so that the...(Ask for More
