Tucked away on one of Tolox's most charming and peaceful streets, this exceptional south-facing townhouse has been thoughtfully reimagined to create a sophisticated village retreat where contemporary design meets authentic Andalusian character.

Beautifully renovated throughout, the property showcases a striking blend of industrial-inspired finishes and traditional architectural features, resulting in a home of remarkable style and individuality. Natural light floods every room, enhancing the sense of space and creating an atmosphere that is both elegant and welcoming.

At the heart of the home lies a stunning open-plan living space, seamlessly combining the kitchen,
