El Atabal sits at an interesting crossroads. Teatinos to one side, the Parque Tecnológico to the other - one of Málaga's most quietly dynamic neighbourhoods, and still largely under the radar. International schools nearby, some of the best in the city. The airport, the centre, the coast - all within reach, none of it felt from inside the house.

The villa is newly built and designed around the way families actually live. Three floors, four en-suite bedrooms, sea and mountain views from every level. The main floor runs kitchen into dining into living, opening onto the terrace and pool through full-width glazing. The lower floor is where the house really breathes...(Ask for More Details!)
